BOWLES's

Geographia Antiqua

Latinorum & Græcorum,

TABULIS XXXII

Novis & accuratis expressa.

IN QUIBUS

Descripta sunt Imperia, Regna, & Provinciæ; Urbes, Oppida, Fluvii, Montesque ab Homero, Herodoto, Justino, Virgilio, Ovidio, Floro, Nepote, Cæsare, Livio, Lucano, Plutarcho, aliisque Auctoribus Antiquis memorata.

Opus diù in Scholis desideratum, Auctoribusque Antiquis clariùs & faciliùs intelligendis apprime accommodatum.

Tabellæ hæ ita sunt dispositæ, ut Geographia Antiqua Novissimis Accuratissimisque Recentiorum Observationibus aptè respondeat.

Austore HERMANNO MOLL, Geographo.

LONDINI:

Pro Proprietario impressum Carington Bowles.

BOWLES's

Geographia Classica;

OR, THE

GEOGRAPHY

OF THE

ANCIENTS,

As contained in the Greek and Latin CLASSICS:

EXHIBITED

IN THIRTY - TWO MAPS,

SHEWING THE

Several Empires, Kingdoms and Provinces, the Chief Cities, Towns, Rivers and Mountains, mentioned in Homer, Herodotus, Justin, Virgil, Ovid, Florus, Nepos, Casar, Livy, Lucan, Plutarch, and many other Ancient Authors.

Principally designed for the USE of SCHOOLS, as being accommodated for the more easy and clear Understanding of ANCIENT AUTHORS.

By HERMAN MOLL, Geographer.

L O N D O N:

Printed for the Proprietor CARINGTON BOWLES, at his Map and Print Warehouse, No. 69, St. Paul's Church Yard.

M DCC LXXXIV.

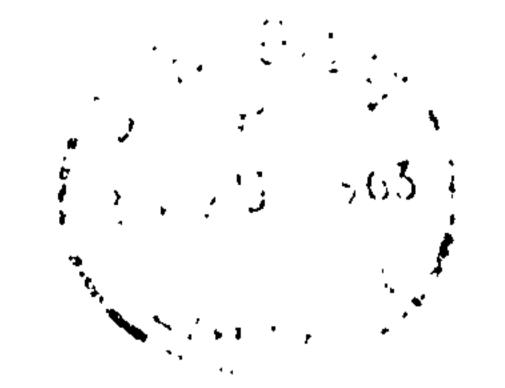

[Price Five Shillings.

WHERE MAY BE HAD,

Boroles's Atlas Minor, containing a new and curious Set of 65 Maps, in which are shewn all the Empires, Kingdoms, Countries, and States, in all the known Parts of the Earth; with their Boundaries, Divisions, Chief Cities, and Towns; the Whole comprized and laid down agreeable to Modern History. By Herman Moll, Geographer. Corrected from the latest and most accurate Observations. Price One Guinea, coloured and neatly Half-bound in Quarto.

PREFATIO.

TEMO est qui nescit Geographiam tanquam Oculum esse Historiæ, neque Classicos Scriptores, vel Græcos, vel Romanos, veteris Literaturæ monumenta, nisi Tabularum Geographicarum ope, posse cum fructu legi. Aque hinc quidem factum est, quod plerisque veterum scriptorum melioris notæ Editionibus, ejusmodi Tabulæ semper serè affigantur, etsi rudiores eæ sint, & minus correctæ, gravioris tamen pretii quam ut à pueris possint comparari. Verum quo aliquid sieret quod tam communioris esset usûs, quâm vilioris pretii, in usum præcipué Juventutis, visum est numero cuidam doctorum virorum, in quibus Episcopus erat eruditissimus, opus hoc sermone Gallico aggredi, cumque impléssent ejus numeros, in quantum modulus operis pateretur, communicatum est clarissimo Domino Du Val, qui illo tempore Geographus fuerat Ludovico XIV. Gallorum Regi, qui quondam Amanuensis suerat prædicto Episcopo; atque ille in Lucem edidit XXVIII. Tabulis, in quibus Veteris Orbis describebantur Imperia Regna, Provinciæ, Urbes præcipuæ, Oppida, Fluvii, Montesque, &c. Cùm verò plurimis Locorum veterum nominibus Gallicas ille fecerit Terminationes, quod herculè non est illi proprium, cum & alii plurimi ante illum idem fecerint, quo placerent suis, nos instituti nostri duximus diversà niti ratione, nam secuti sumus Eachardum nostrum, Cellarium, atque alios quorum ope in hoc opusculo usi sumus.

Nemo

The PREFACE.

ledge of the Situation and Extent of Countries, which have been the scenes of great events, being highly necessary to form a clear and comprehensive judgment of them. To consult the Maps of Countries, and whatever Cities, Rivers, and Islands are mentioned by an Author, to search them out, and view them in a Map, is a method of reading attended with great Advantages. The impression made on the memory is more strong and lasting, when we thus see and contemplate the Situation of Places; and we are not only helped more casily to take in the Historian's remarks, but frequently to make solid ones of our own, and to conceive more distinctly, and judge more perfectly, of the sacts recited.

The Greek and Latin Classics, those excellent Monuments of anti nt Learnning, those Records of the famous Exploits of illustrious Men in sormer Ages, sill up a great part of the Education of Youth; and 'tis in order that the study of the Classics might be attended with greater advantages and pleasure, that the following Maps, adapted to them, are published. When the young Student is reading the Navigation of Ulysses or Encas, the Expeditions of Alexander, of Hannibal, or other great Men of Antiquity, he may follow them in these Maps through all the memorable Places they past, which will excite a greater attention to the circumstances there transacted, and at the same time that it helps him to form a better judgment of those exploits, it will impress his mind strongly with the chain and series of events.

The light struck on many Passages in History, by Maps adapted to them, has occasioned their being sitted to the most valuable editions of the Classics; but the use of them, so far as it regards the young Student, has in great measure been prevented. For notwithstanding that such Maps have been hitherto less correct than might be expected, yet they have been commonly too dear for the generality of youth to purchase.

That something of this kind might appear in public of more universal benefit, on account of its cheapness to Scholars, and correctness of the Maps, a Set of Gentlemen in France, eminent for Learning, undertook this Work. They employ'd considerable Pains and Labour on it; and having brought the Plan to as great perfection as they thought it would bear, they put their composition into the Hands of the samous Du Val, Geographer to the French King, who revised the same, and published it in 28 Maps of the old World. This Performance I now present to the Public, with the addition of sour new Plates, and with one very material Correction in the other twenty-eight, viz. Mons. Du Val having followed the usual manner of his countrymen, and given French terminations to many of the antient places, I thought it absolutely necessary to remove this inconvenience, which I have done by correcting the names agreeable to Mr. Eachard's Classical Geographical Dictionary, Cellarius, and the information of several learned Gentlemen, whose kind assistance in this Work I gratefully acknowledge.

That

Nemo est qui non videbit protinùs Tabellas istas Geographicas adornatas suisse in usum Scholasticæ Juventutis. Omnes Novæ sunt, confectæque juxta nuperrimas, & accuratissimas Observationes: harum singulæ scalam habent Milliarum Britannicorum, quibus singulis sexaginta sunt Gradus. Ubi vero Gradus minutiores sunt quam ut responderent uni Scalæ, usi sumus Mercatoris Projectione, eique accommodavimus scalam, de quâ videsis Orbis Tabulam N. 1. &c. Hâc poterunt Discentes facillimè Intervalla metiri, usumque percipere tàm Antiquarum, quam Recentiorum Tabularum. Neque hoc loco prætereundum duco quam prosicuum hoc opusculum suturum sit etiam provectioris ætatis hominibus in Classicorum Lectione.

Huic etiam Compendio Quatuor novas subjecimus Tabulas: Unam, Civilium Bellorum Julii Cæsaris, & Pompeii Magni, N. 27. Alteram Itinerum Israëlitarum in Arabiæ Deserto, una cum Descriptione Sanctæ Terræ, sive Canaan, N. 31. Tertiam, Itinerarii Divi Pauli, aliorumque Locorum, quorum sit mentio in Testamento Novo. Vide N. 32. Quartam, Tabulam Asiæ Antiquæ, primorumque post Diluvium Populorum, N. 30. Hæc confecta est à Clarissimo W. Stukley, M. D. Regiæ Societatis Socio, quam ille nobis benignissimè impertivit, cui unà cum aliis viris doctis opem nobis ferentibus grates agimus meritissimas. In Ordinandis autem istis Tabulis nullam rationem positionis habendam existimavimus, cùm hoc nullo modo necessarium suerit nostro Instituto, vel operis Legi. Tu verò, mi Lector, bene Consule, & vale.

The PREFACE.

That this Edition of claffical Maps might appear with greater accuracy, I have carefully examined the places laid down, with the latest and most exact Observations. I have also fitted to each Map a Scale of British Miles 60 to a degree; and have used Mercator's Projection, and engraved Scales according to it in those Maps, where the number of degrees are too many to answer correctly to one Scale. With the help of these Scales, the Student, when tracing the Expeditions of antient Heroes, may easily inform himself of the distance of places, and the length of the Tract, which in imagination he marches through, as well as of the Shape and Figure of those Countries which have been the Theatres of great Actions, the form of which he will see by inspecting the Maps.

Events with the use of Maps, there is this surther advantage attenting it. The Pupil will read the Classics with greater pleasure, and at the same time be gaining some Geographical Knowledge. He will treasure up the Names of Seas and Islands; Rivers and Towns; he will learn what Cities are bordering on the Sea, or situated on the sides of Rivers, and which are distant from them. He will be informed how the World was divided in somer times, and will find no small delight in comparing these antient Maps, and the Extent and Boundaries of somer Kingdoms, with modern ones. Geographical Terms, and the uses of Longitude and Latitude, will be easily learnt when his curiofity is by this means excited.

The four new Maps which I have added to this Collection, are, I. A Map of the Countries where the Civil War raged between Pompey and Caffar. Plate 27. II. A Map hitherto much wanted, viz. A Scriptural Map of antient Asia, as it became gradually inhabited after the Universal Deluge, shewing the several Dispersions and Settlements of Noah's Descendants, from their first Habitation where the Ark rested; and the Passage of the Gomarians into Europe, which were the first Colonies settled there, Plate 30. III. The Journeyings of the Ifraelites mentioned in the Mosaic History: Also the Land of Canaan, shewing the Division thereof among the twelve Tribes, and the most remarkable Places mentioned in Joshua and Judges, Plate 31. IV. The Journeyings of our Saviour, shewing the Places mentioned by the four Evangelists. Also the Travels of St. Paul, with the Places mentioned in the Books of the New Testament following the Gospels, Plate 32. I am indebted to Dr. Stukley, Fellow of the Royal Society, for the Map of antient Afia, Plate 30. It is the Composition of that learned gentleman, who generously presented it to me for the Encouragement of this Work. I return him my hearty thanks for the same.

In placing these Maps, more regard is had to the Connection and Relation they bear to one another, in respect to the Situation of Coun ries, Empires, and Conquests than the Antiquity of the Authors from whence they are extracted. It is obvious they are designed for the Use of Schools; but it is hoped that persons of riper years, who delight in the Classics, will find some advantage in them, as well as the young Student.

T A B U L Æ in hoc Volumine contentæ.

I. RBIS Tabula quatenus à Veteribus cogniti, speciatim tali linea - - - - comprehensi.

Quicquid Romano paruit Imperio hoc modo nota-tum est - - -

II. Italia ad Justinum.

Græcia ad Justini Historiam. Orbis Tabula ad Justinum.

III. Syria & Assyria ad mentem Ptolemæi aliorumque.

IV. Imperium Persarum tempore Cyri Magni.

V. Imperium Persicum in Viginti Provincias sortitum à Dario Hystaspis Filio.

VI. Reditus decem millium Græcorum juxta Xenophontem.

VII. Alexandri Magni Expeditio ex Q. Curtio, Arriano.

VIII. Regiones quas devicit Demetrius cognomine Poliorcetes.

IX. Notitia Locorum apud Eusebii Historiam Ecclesiasticam.

X. Belli Trojani circuitus secundum Dictyn Cretensem & Daretem Phrygium.

XI. Navigatio Ulyssis secundum Homerum.

XII. Navigatio Æneæ secundum Virgilium.

XIII. Navigatio Æneæ in Primo Libro Dionysii Halicarnassensis adnotata.

XIV. Hellas sive Græcia Imperiumque Cræsi ad Herodotum.

XV. Græcia Antiqua secundum Cornelium Nepotem.

XVI. Expeditio Agesilai Ducis Spartani secundum Xenophontem.

XVII. Acquisitiones Pyrrhi Epirotarum Regis sicut in Plutarcho.

A TABLE of the MAPS contained in this Volume.

MAP of the WORLD, as far as known by the Antients, particularly what is comprehended within such a Line - - - -

The Roman Empire is thus defined - - -'-

II. Italy as in Justin.

Greece as in Justin.

A Map of the World as in Justin.

III. Syria and Assyria, as in Ptolemy and others.

IV. The Persian Empire, in the Time of Cyrus the Great.

V. The Persian Empire, as divided into 20 Provinces by Darius the Son of Hystaspis.

VI. The Return of the Ten Thousand Greeks, according to Xenophon.

VII. The Expedition of Alexander the Great, from Q. Curtius.

VIII. The Countries conquered by Demetrius sirnamed Poliorcetes.

IX. The Places mentioned in Eusebius's Ecclesiastical History.

X. The Compass of the Trojan War, according to Distys Cretensis and Dares Phrygius.

XI. The Navigation of Ulysses, according to Homer.

XII. The Navigation of Aneas according to Virgil.

XIII. The Navigation of Æneas, as set down in the first Book of Dionysius Halicarnassensis.

XIV. Greece and the Empire of Crassus, in Herodotus.

XV. Antient Greece, according to Cornelius Nepos.

XVI. The Expedition of Agesilaus, the Spartan Captain, according to Xenophon.

XVII. The Conquests of Pyribus, King of the Epirots, as in Plutarch.

Tabulæ in boc Volumine contentæ.

XVIII. Ægyptus sicut in Libro Herodoti secundo describitur.

XIX. Lybia ad mentem Herodoti.

XX. Africa ex Bello Africano C. Julii Cæsaris.

XXI. Bætica, siveHispaniæ pars Australis, ut in Cæsare descripta in Bello Hispanico.

XXII. Gallia Vetus ad Julii Cæsaris Commentarios.

XXIII. Romani Imperii Primordia ut apud Florum.

XXIV. Romanum İmperium Juvenile secundum L. Florum.

XXV. Expeditio Hannibalis Pænorum Imperatoris uti describitur in Livio & Cornelio Nepote.

XXVI. Romanum Imperium sicut in Cæsaris Commentariis &

Silio Italico.

XXVII. Typus Regionum per quas grassatum est Bellum Civile inter Pompeium & Cæsarem.

XXVIII. Imperii Romani juxta Lucanum Typus. XXIX. Romanum Imperium ad Acmen evectum.

XXX. Asiæ Antiquissimæ Tabula, Humani Generis Restaurati Propagationem demonstrans, post magnum Diluvium; & Coloniarum suarum dispersionem, à Primis in Oriente Incunabulis, ubi Noæ resedit Arca; speciatim Gomarorum transitum in Europam, quam maxima ex parte Sobole sua implerunt: Ex Ævi antiqui Tenebris eruit Wilhelmus Stukeley, M.D.

XXXI. Iter Israëlitarum in Sacra Scriptura, & Terra Canaan inter Duodecim Tribus sortita, cum locis insignioribus in Libro

Josuæ & Judicum.

XXXII. Itinera Domini nostri Jesu Christi, & cætera loca in quatuor Evangeliis citata.

Tabula Itinerum & Navigationum Divi Pauli, aliorumque locorum libris Novi Testamenti Evangelia insequentibus memoratorum; una cum Regionibus à Terra Sancta remotis sicut eisdem libris notantur.

A Table of the Maps contained in this Volume.

XVIII. Egypt as described in the Second Book of Herodotus.

XIX. Lybia, according to Herodotus.

XX. Africa, from the African War of Cæsar.

XXI. Bætica, or the Southern Part of Spain, as described by Cæsar in the Spanish War.

XXII. Ancient Gaul, in the Commentaries of Cæsar.

XXIII. The Origin of the Roman Empire, according to Florus.

XXIV. The Roman Empire in its youthful state, according to Florus.

XXV. The Expedition of Hannibal General of the Carthaginians, as described in Livy and Cornelius Nepos.

XXVI. The Roman Empire, from Cæsar's Commentaries and Silius Italicus. John Raid

XXVII. A Map of the Countries where raged the Civil War between Pompey and Cæsar.

XXVIII. The Roman Empire, according to Lucan. XXIX. The Roman Empire, at its utmost Height.

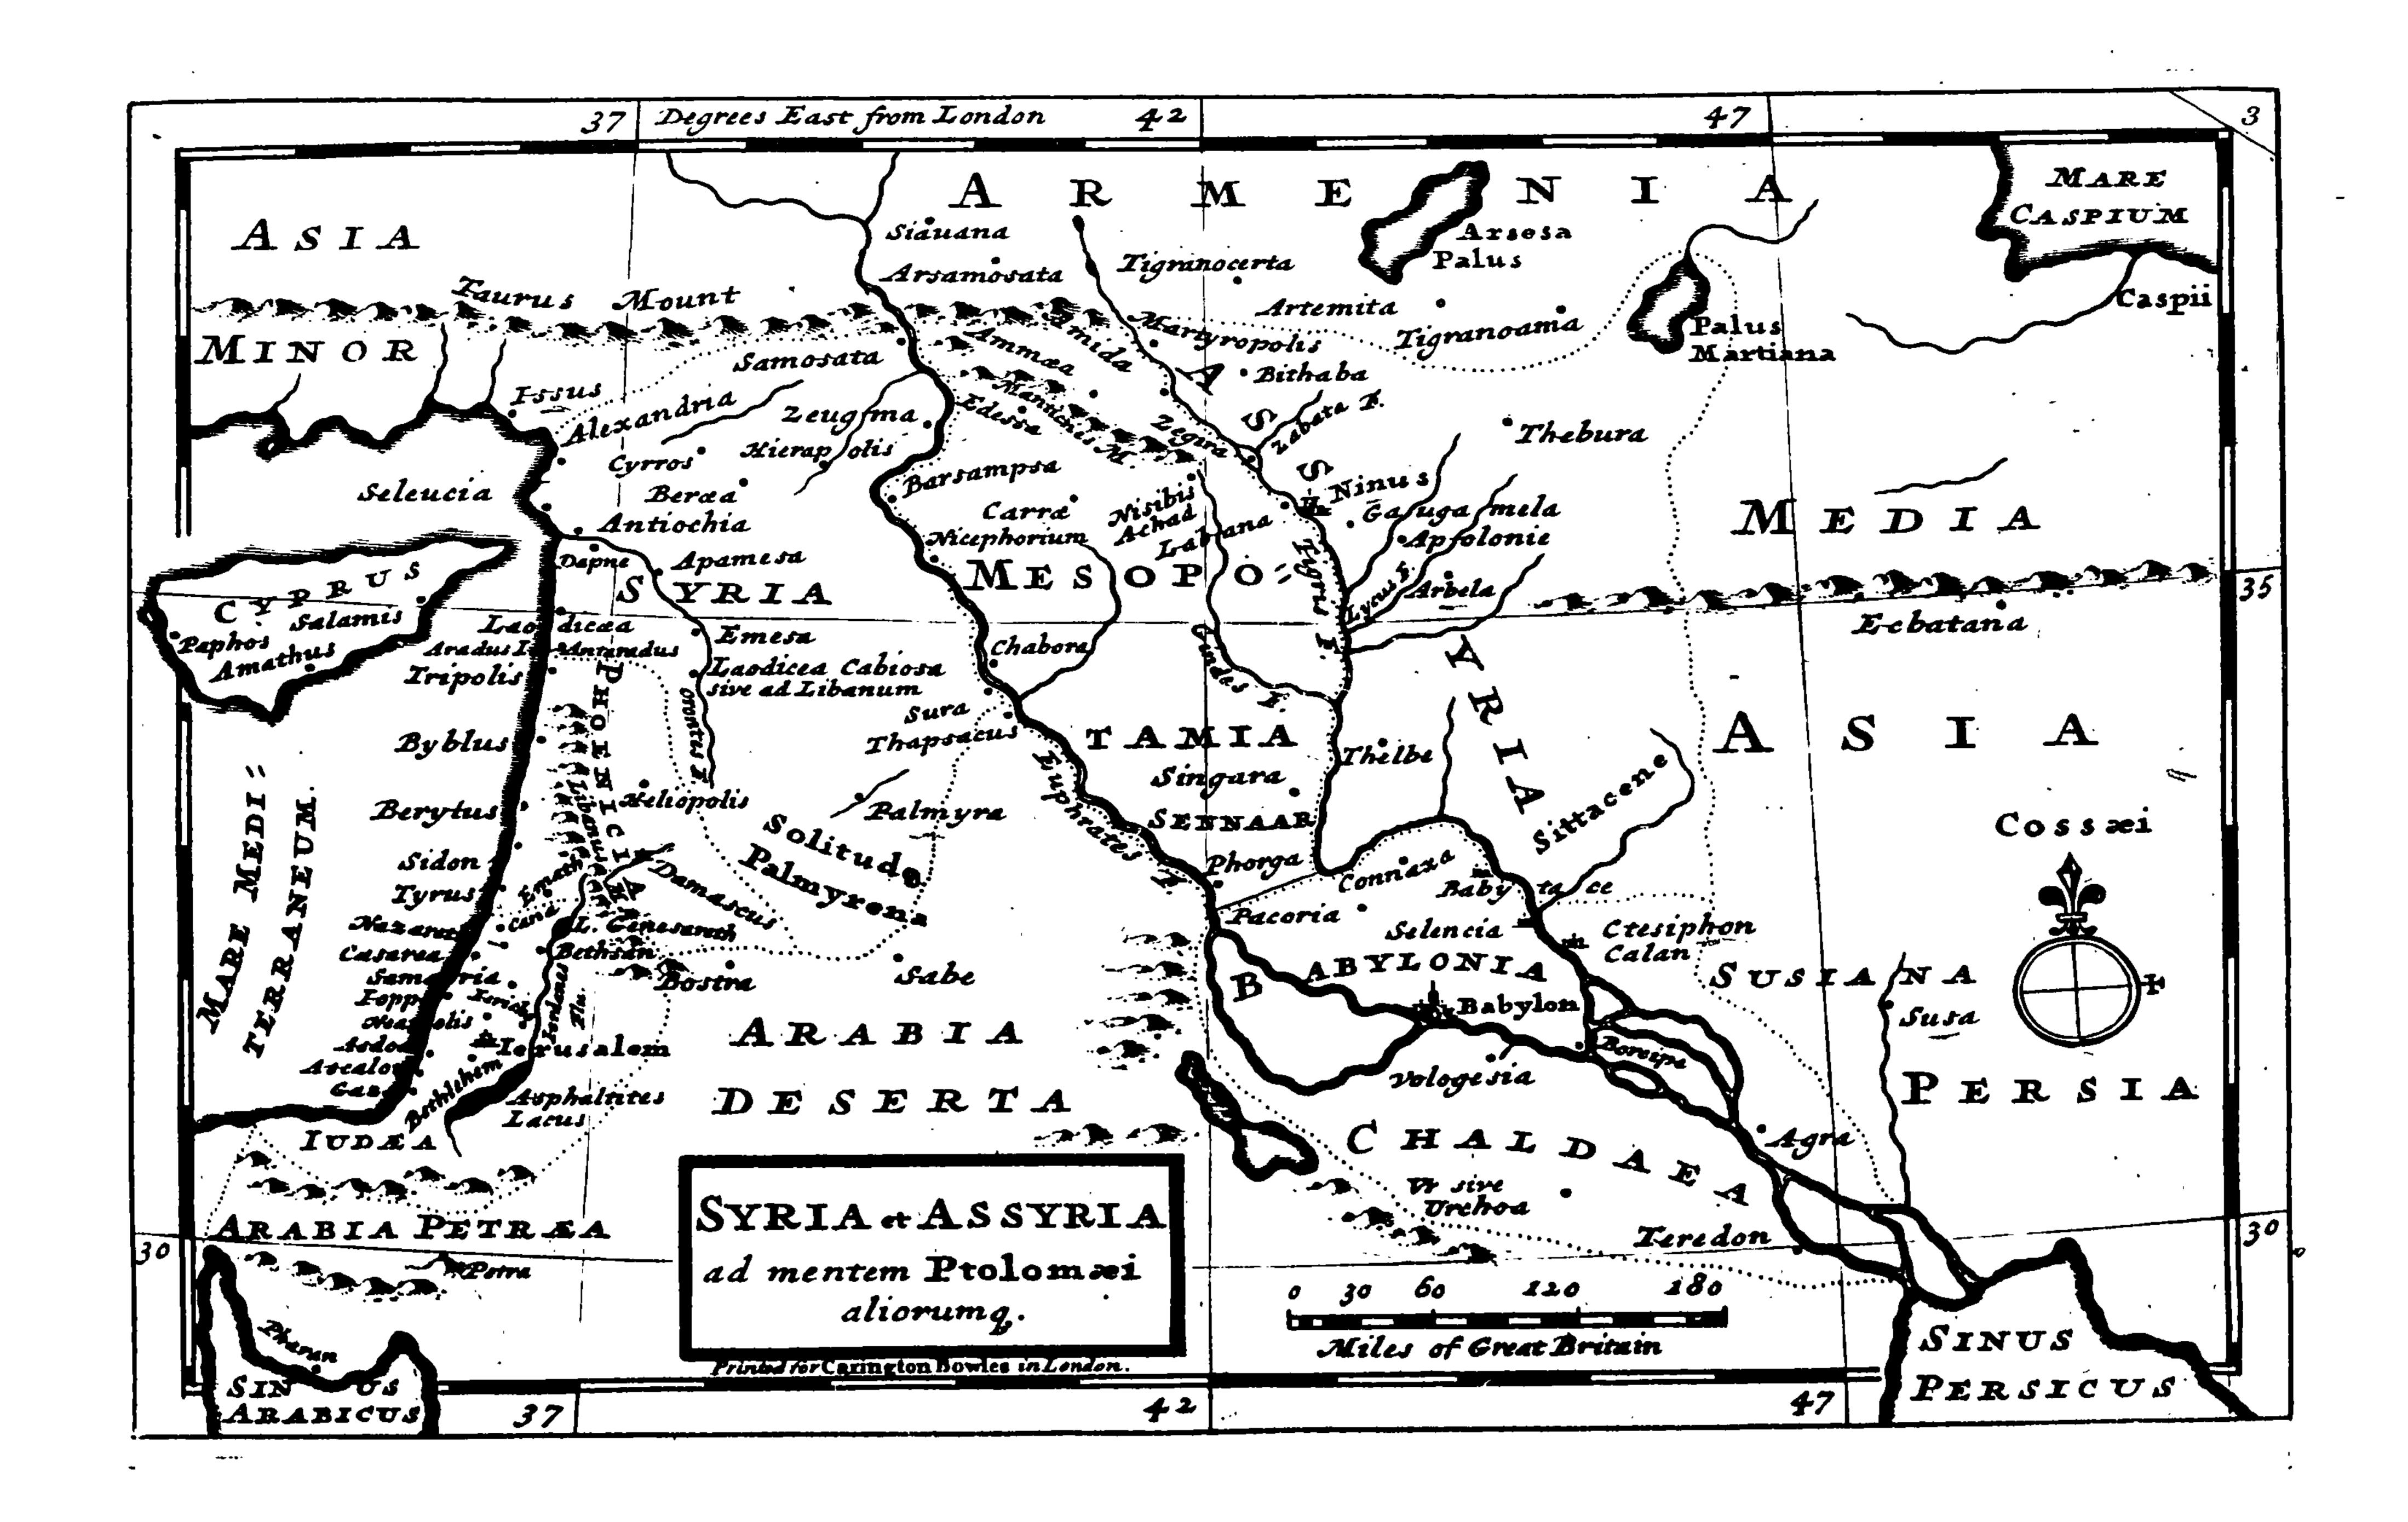

XXX. A Map of Antient Asia, as it became gradually inhabited after the universal Deluge, shewing the several Dispersions and Settlements of Noah's Descendants, from their first Habitation where the Ark rested; and, particularly, the Passage of the Gomarians into Europe, which were the first Colonies settled there. Extracted from the Monuments of Antiquity, by W. Stukely, M. D.

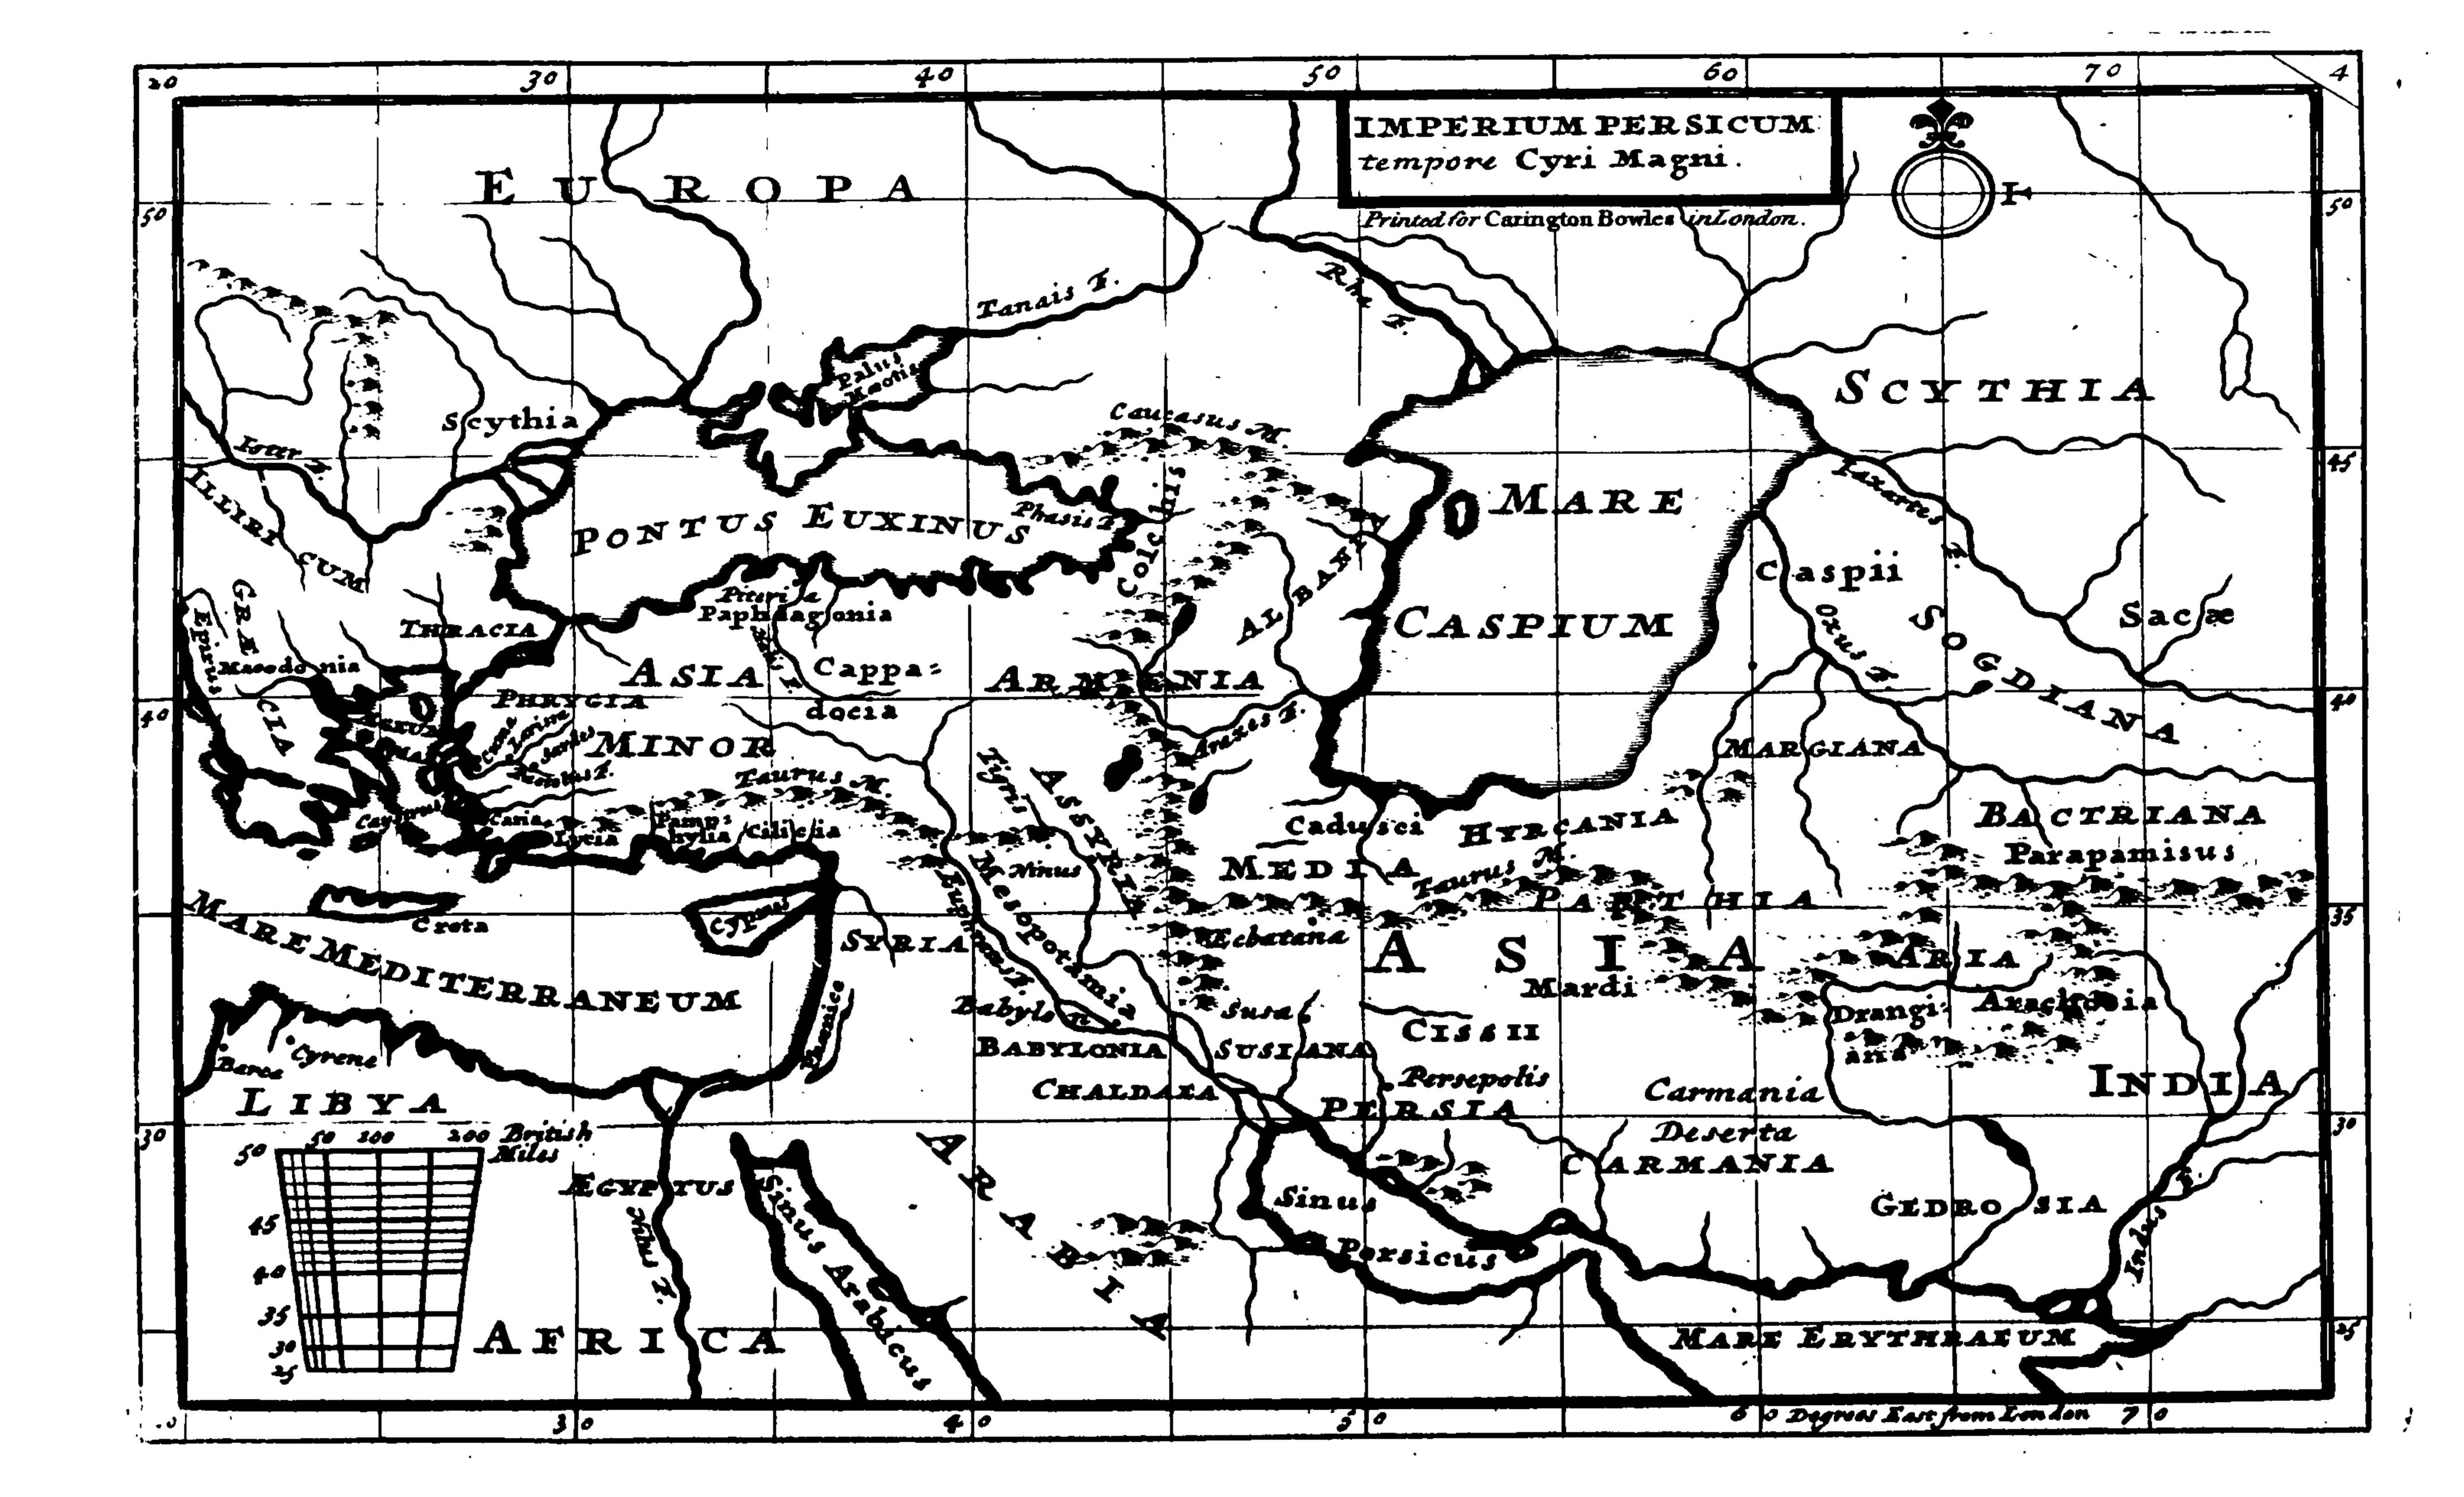

XXXI. A Map of the Journeyings of the Ifraelites mentioned in the Mosaic History. And of the Land of Canaan, shewing the Divisions of the Twelve Tribes of Israel, and the more remarkable Places mentioned in Joshua and Judges.

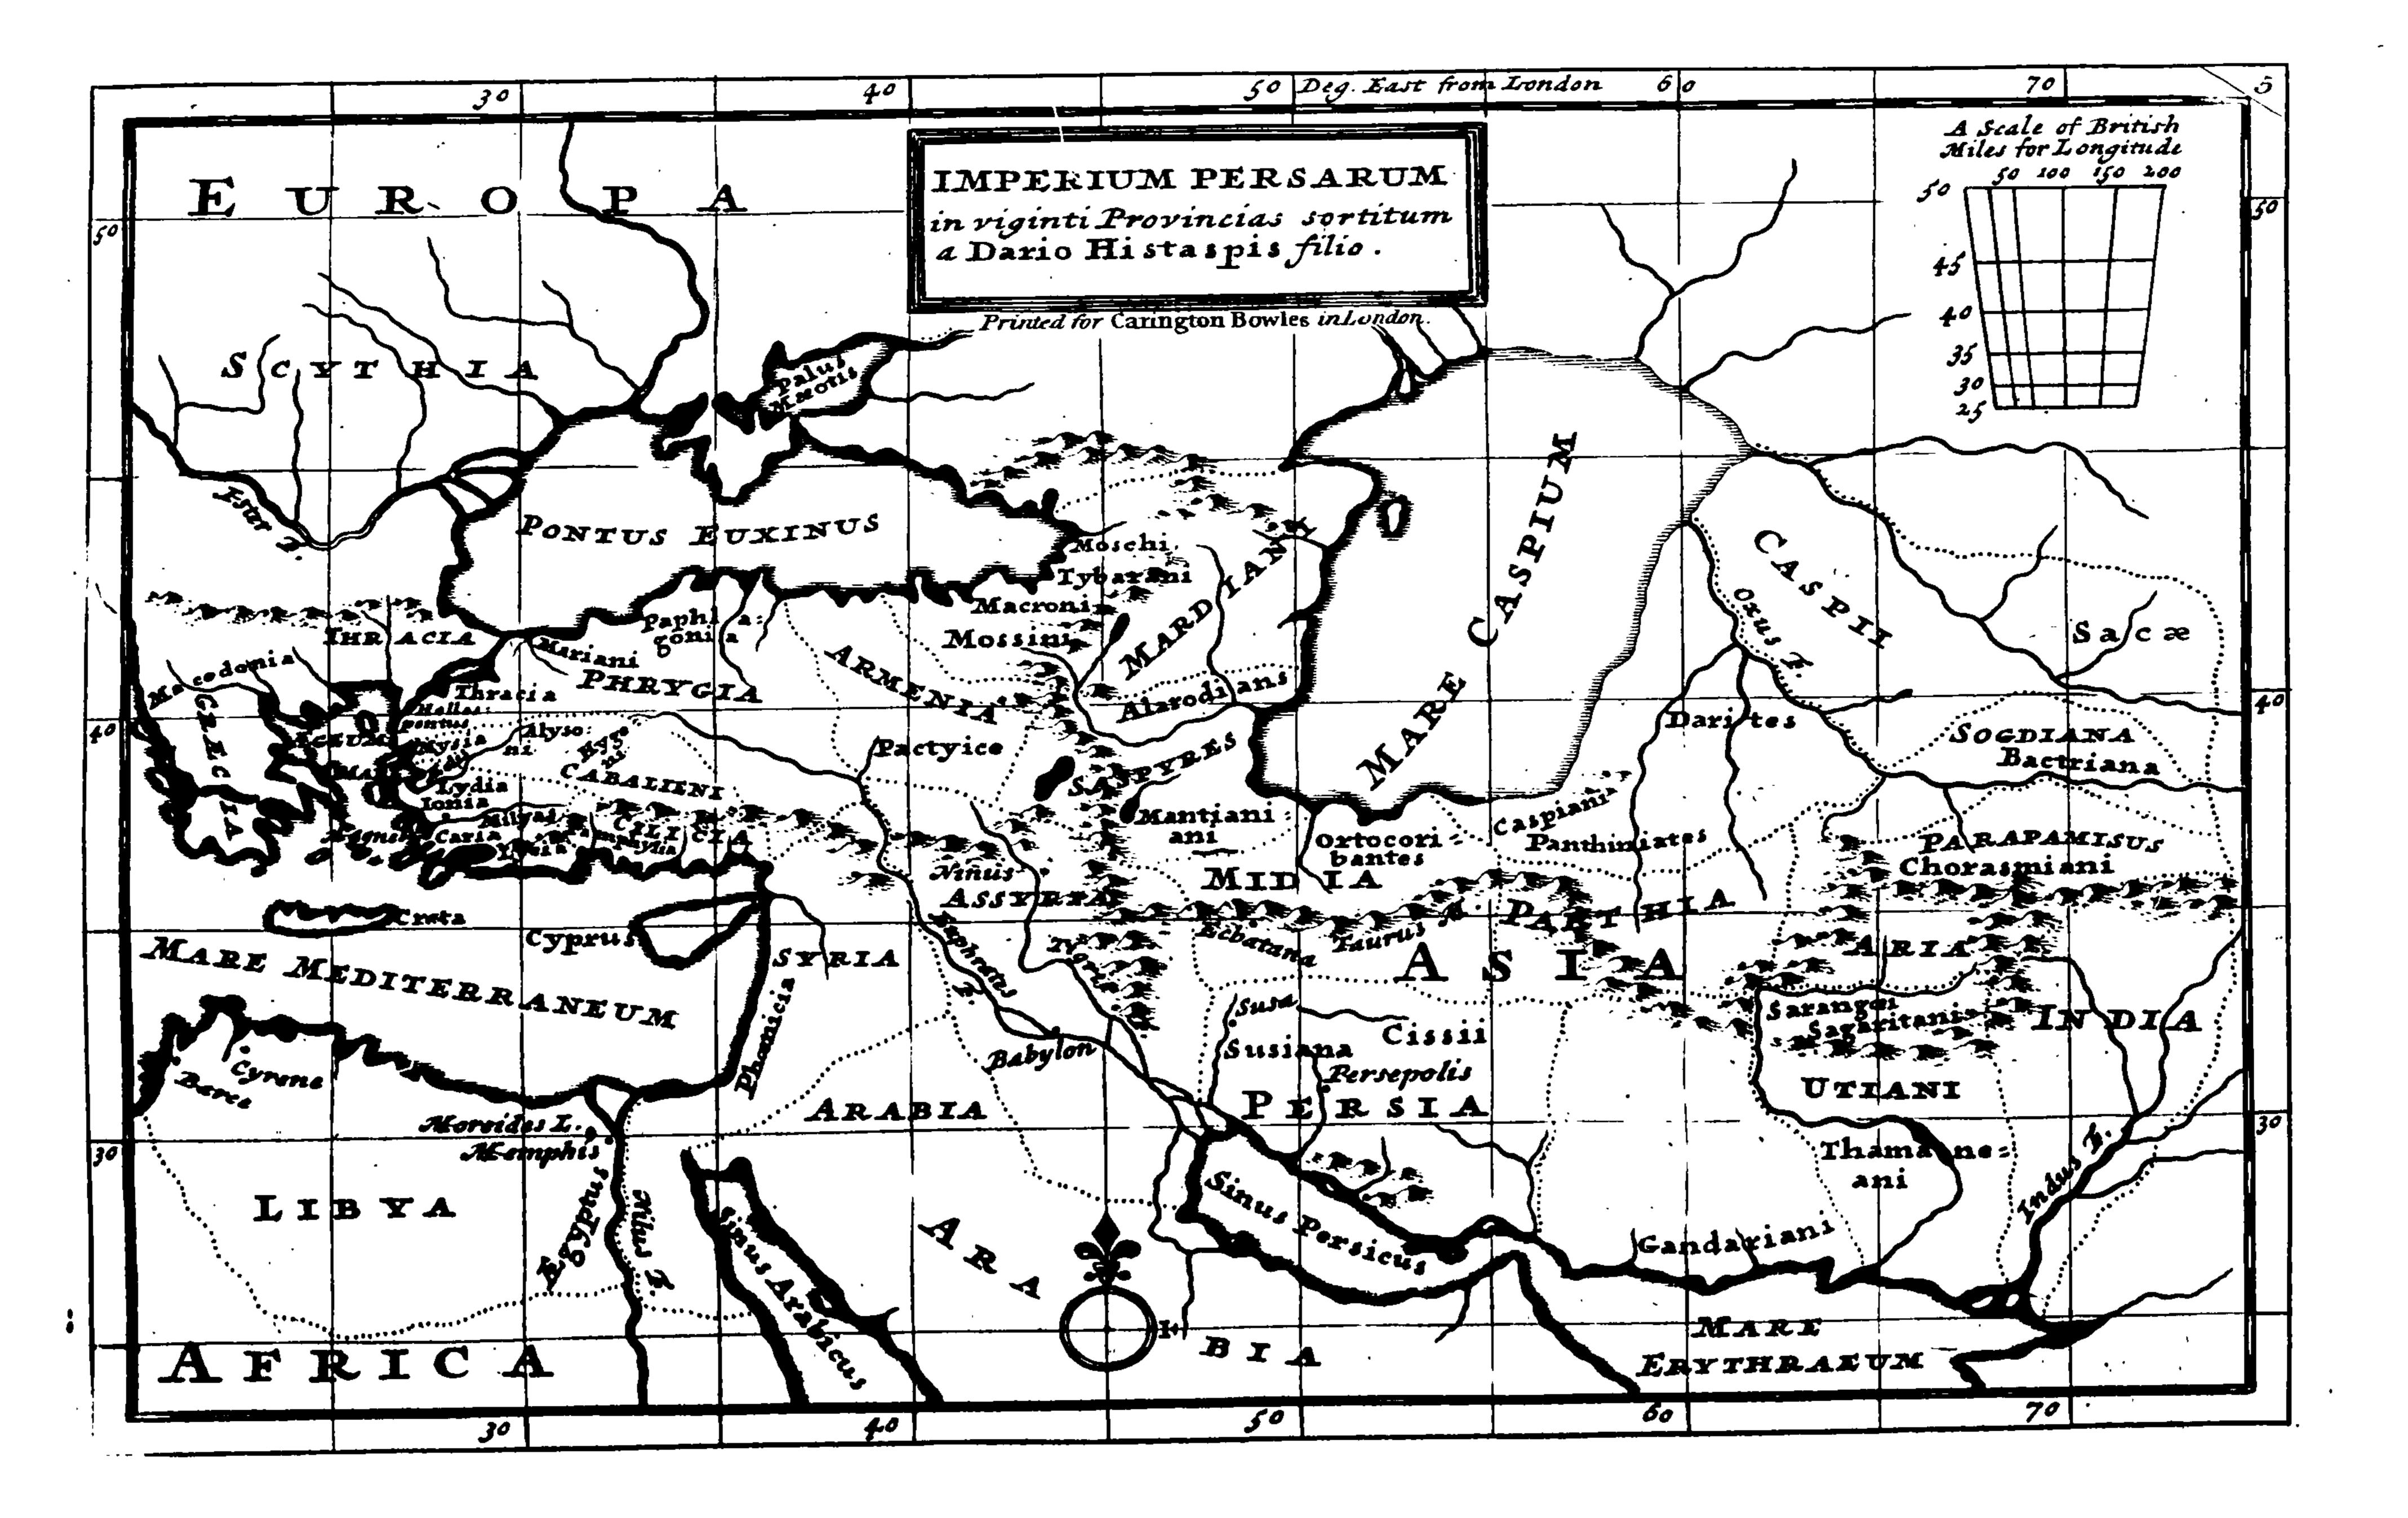

XXXII. A Map of the Journeyings of our Saviour Jesus Christ, and of the other Places mentioned in the Four Gospels.

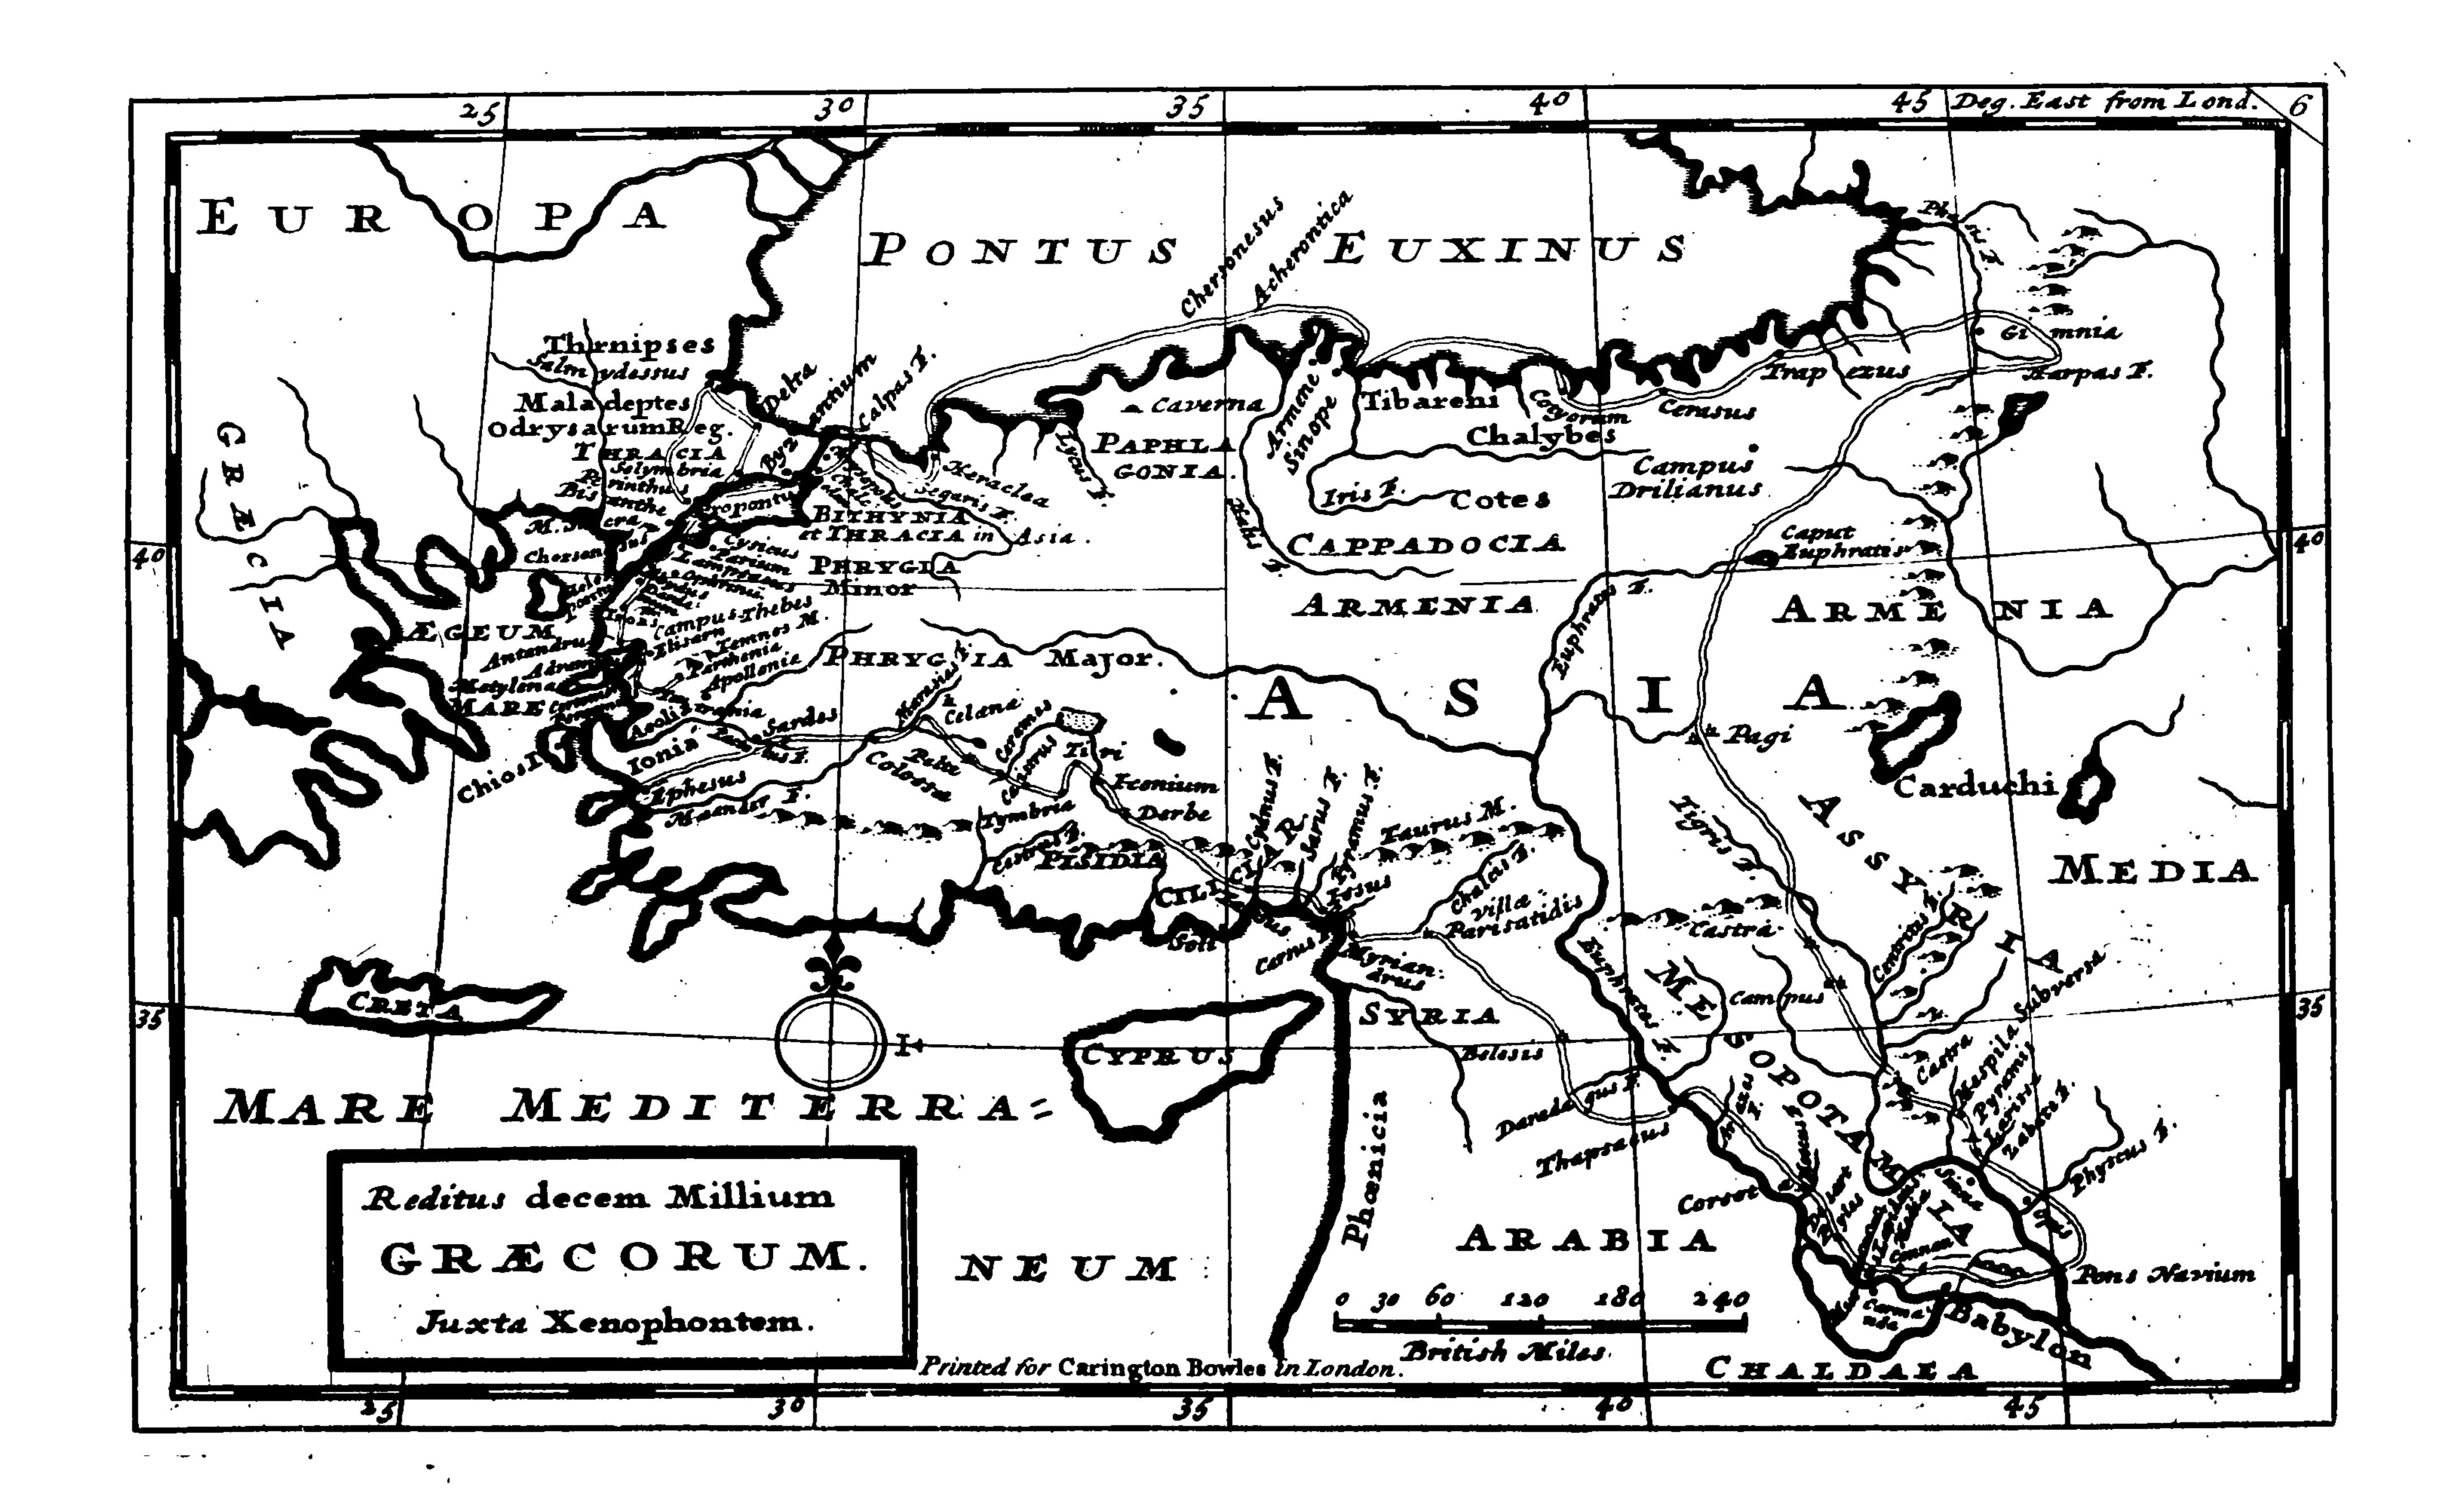

A Map of the Travels and Voyages of St. Paul, and of the other Places that are mentioned in the Books of the New Testament that follow the Gospels; together with such Places that lie remote from the Holy Land as are mentioned in the New Testament. Assure n

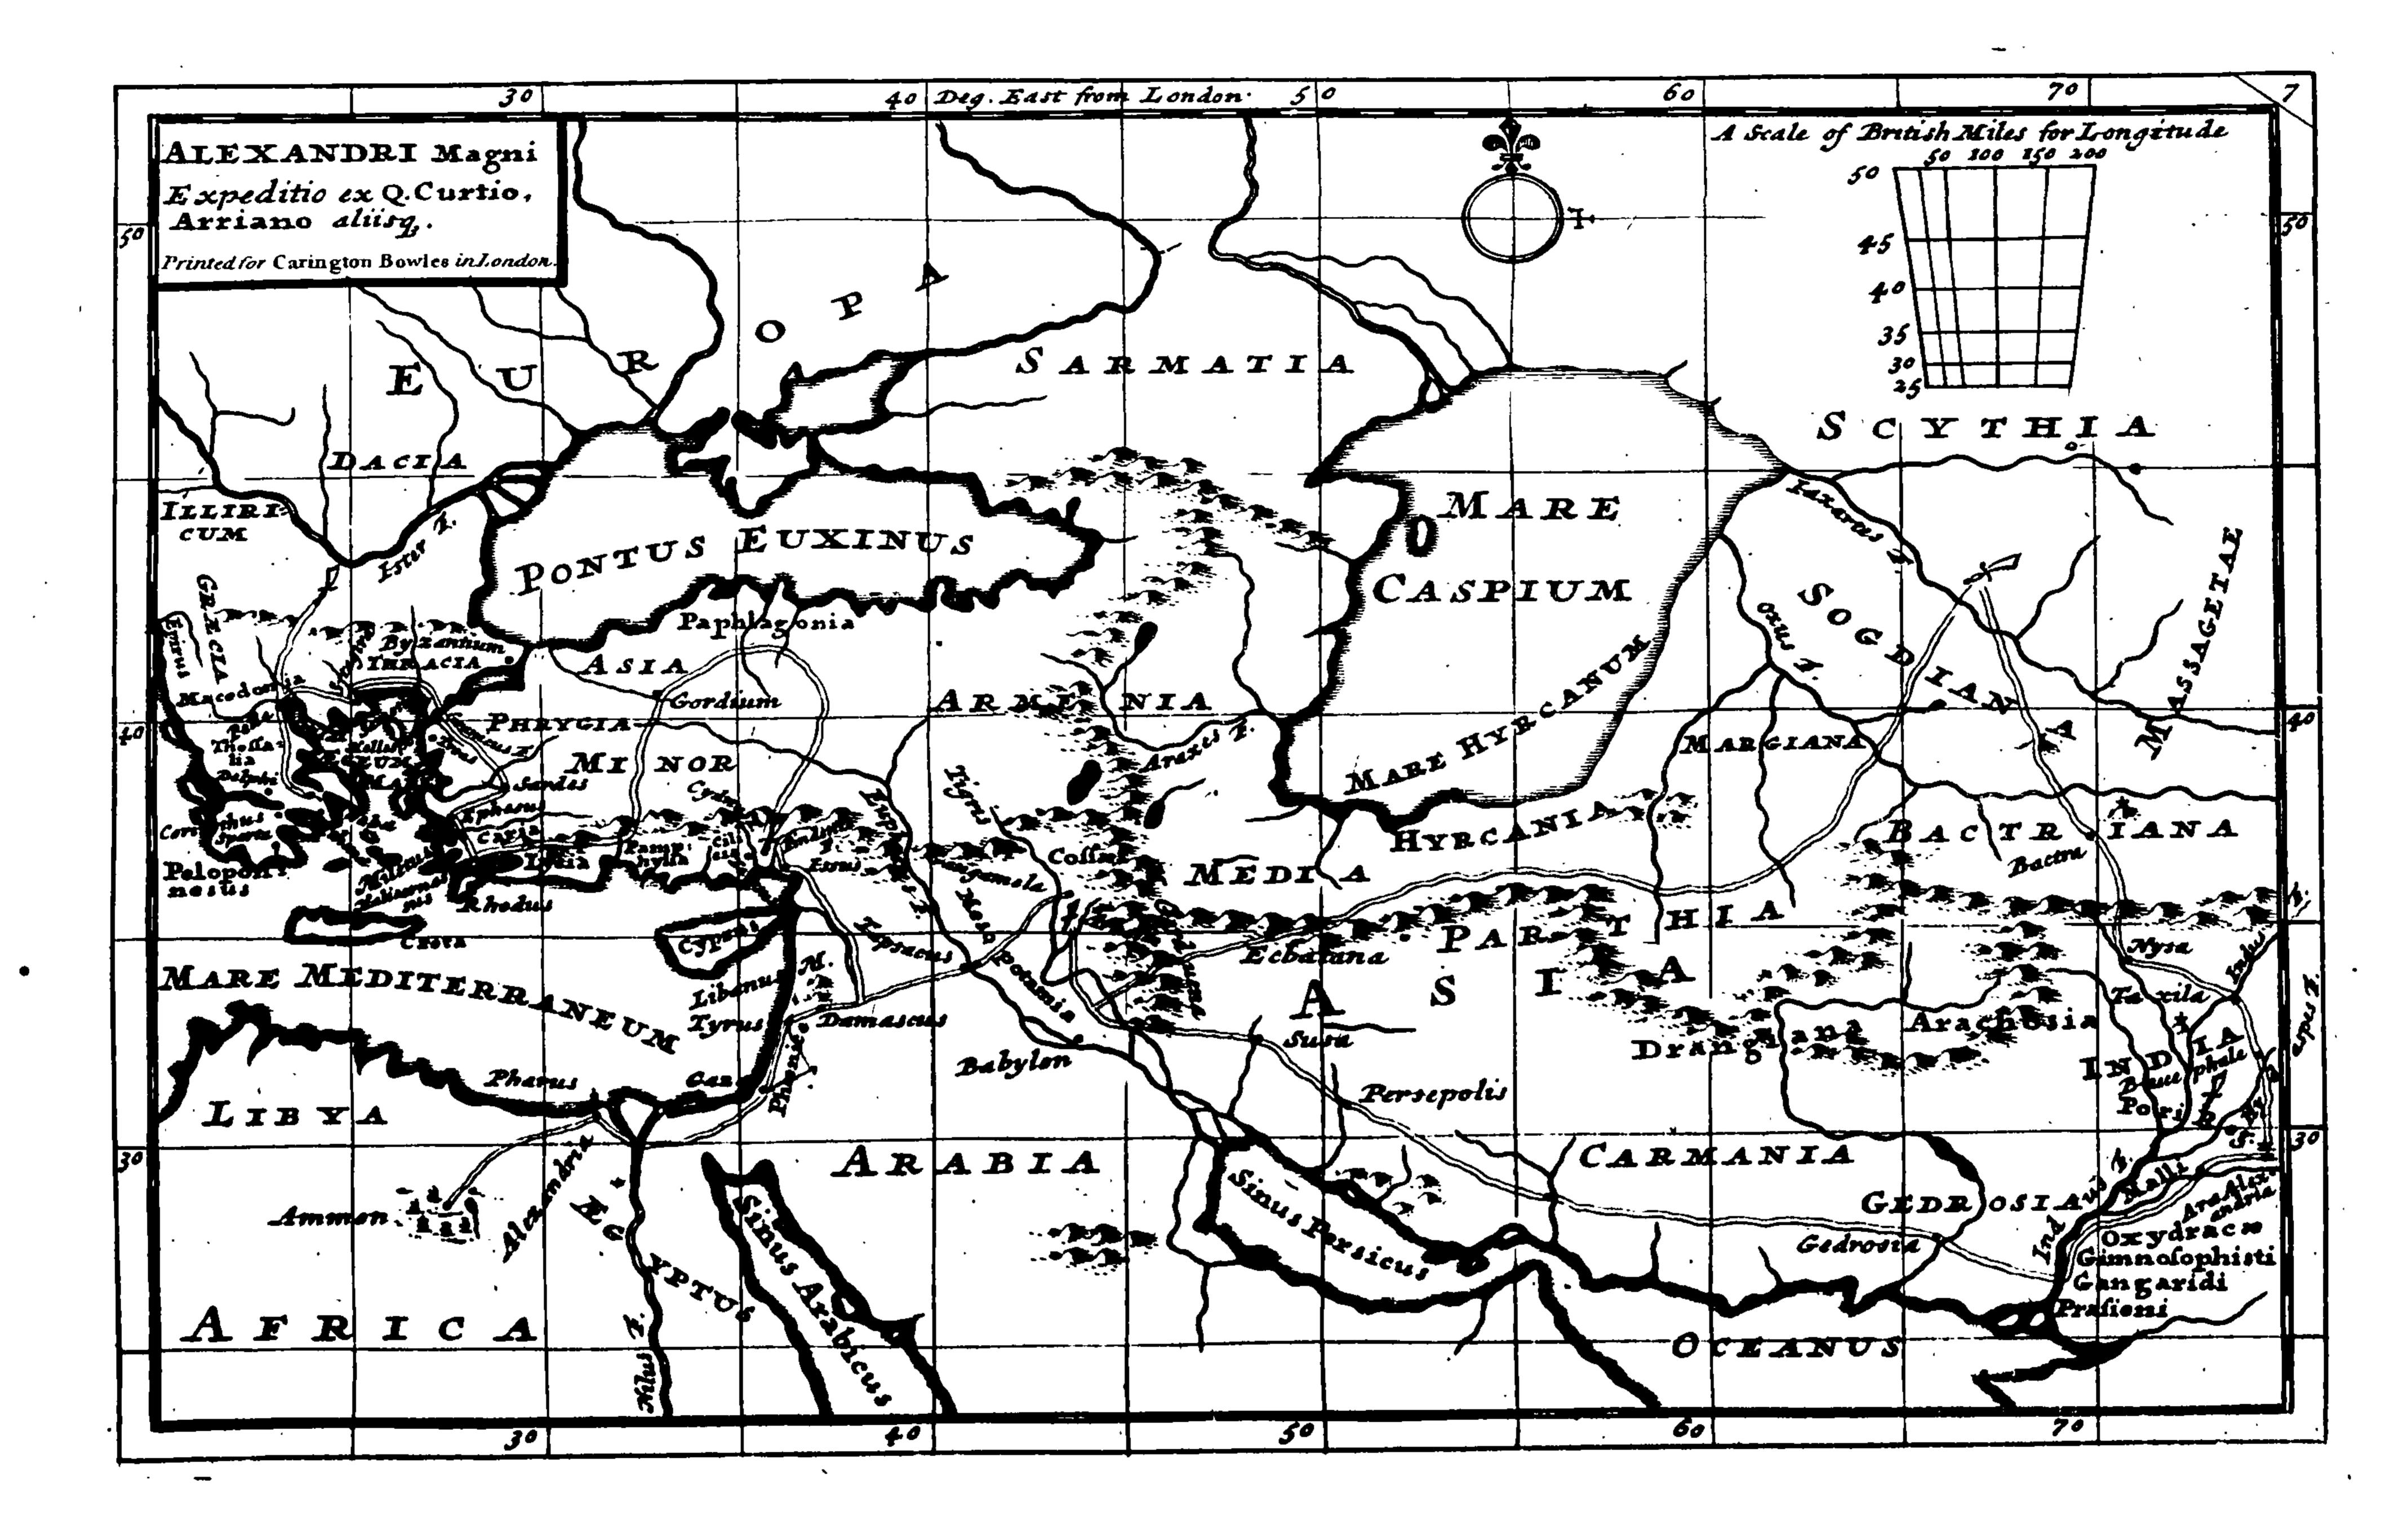

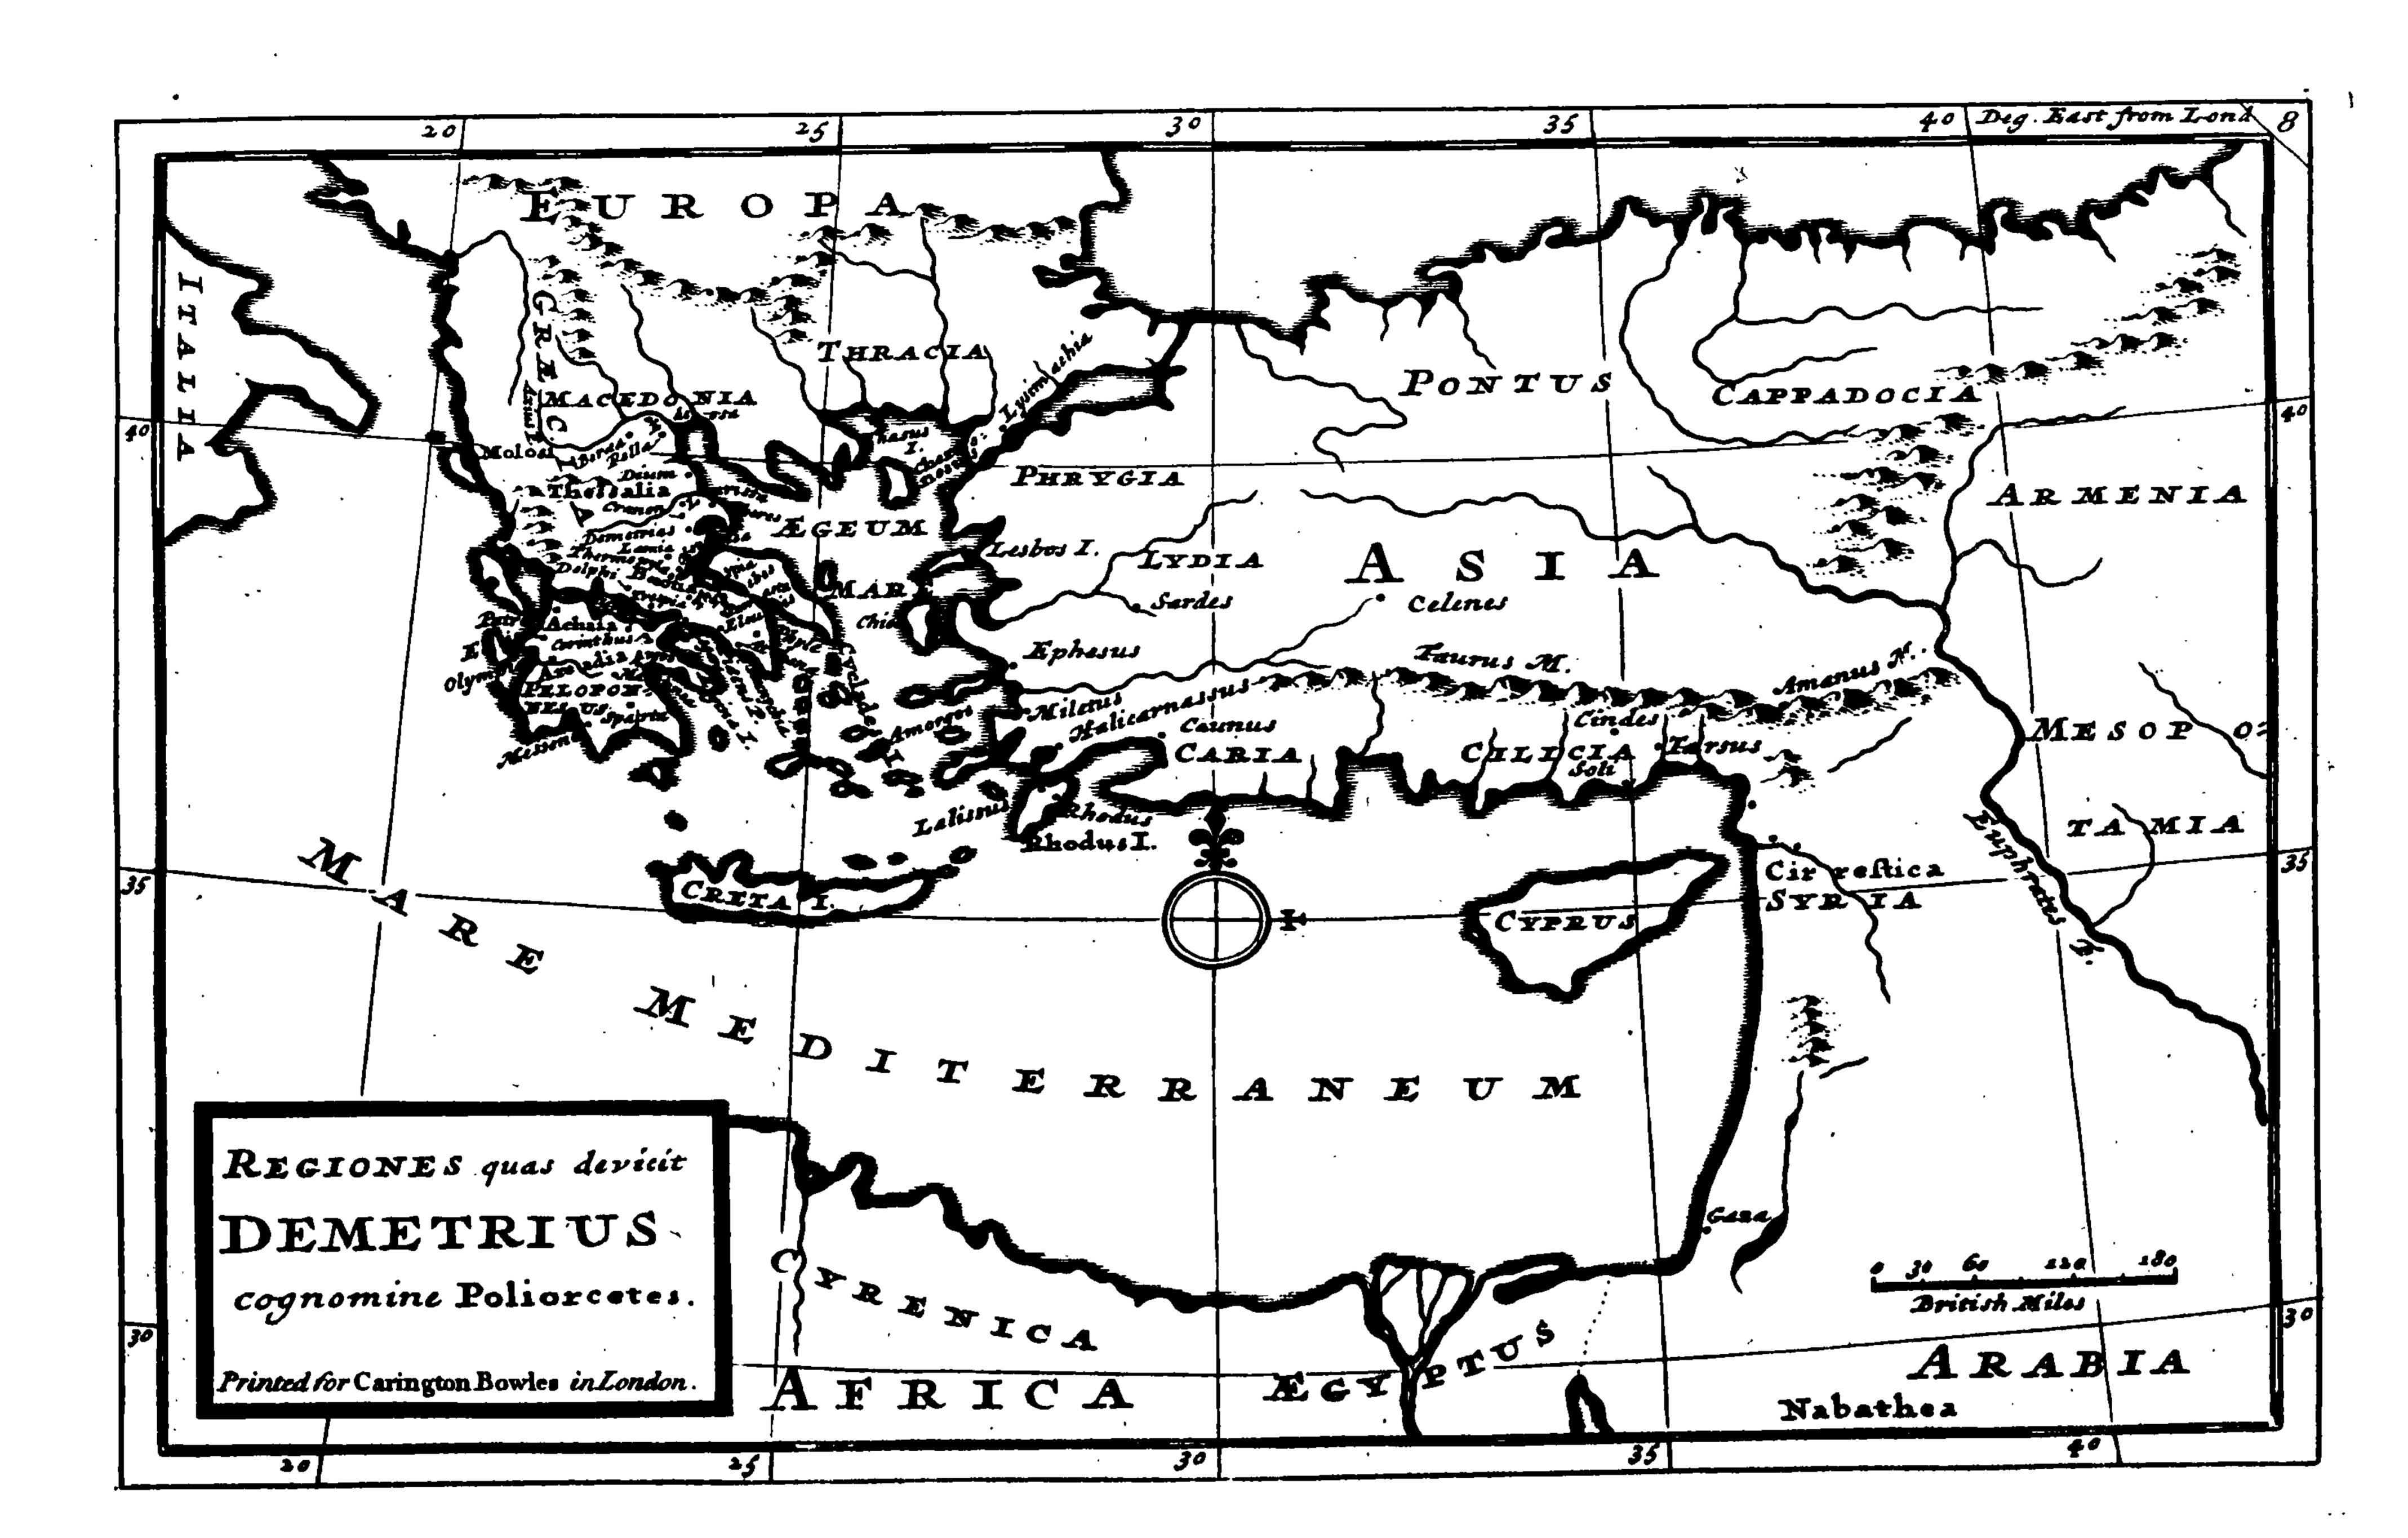

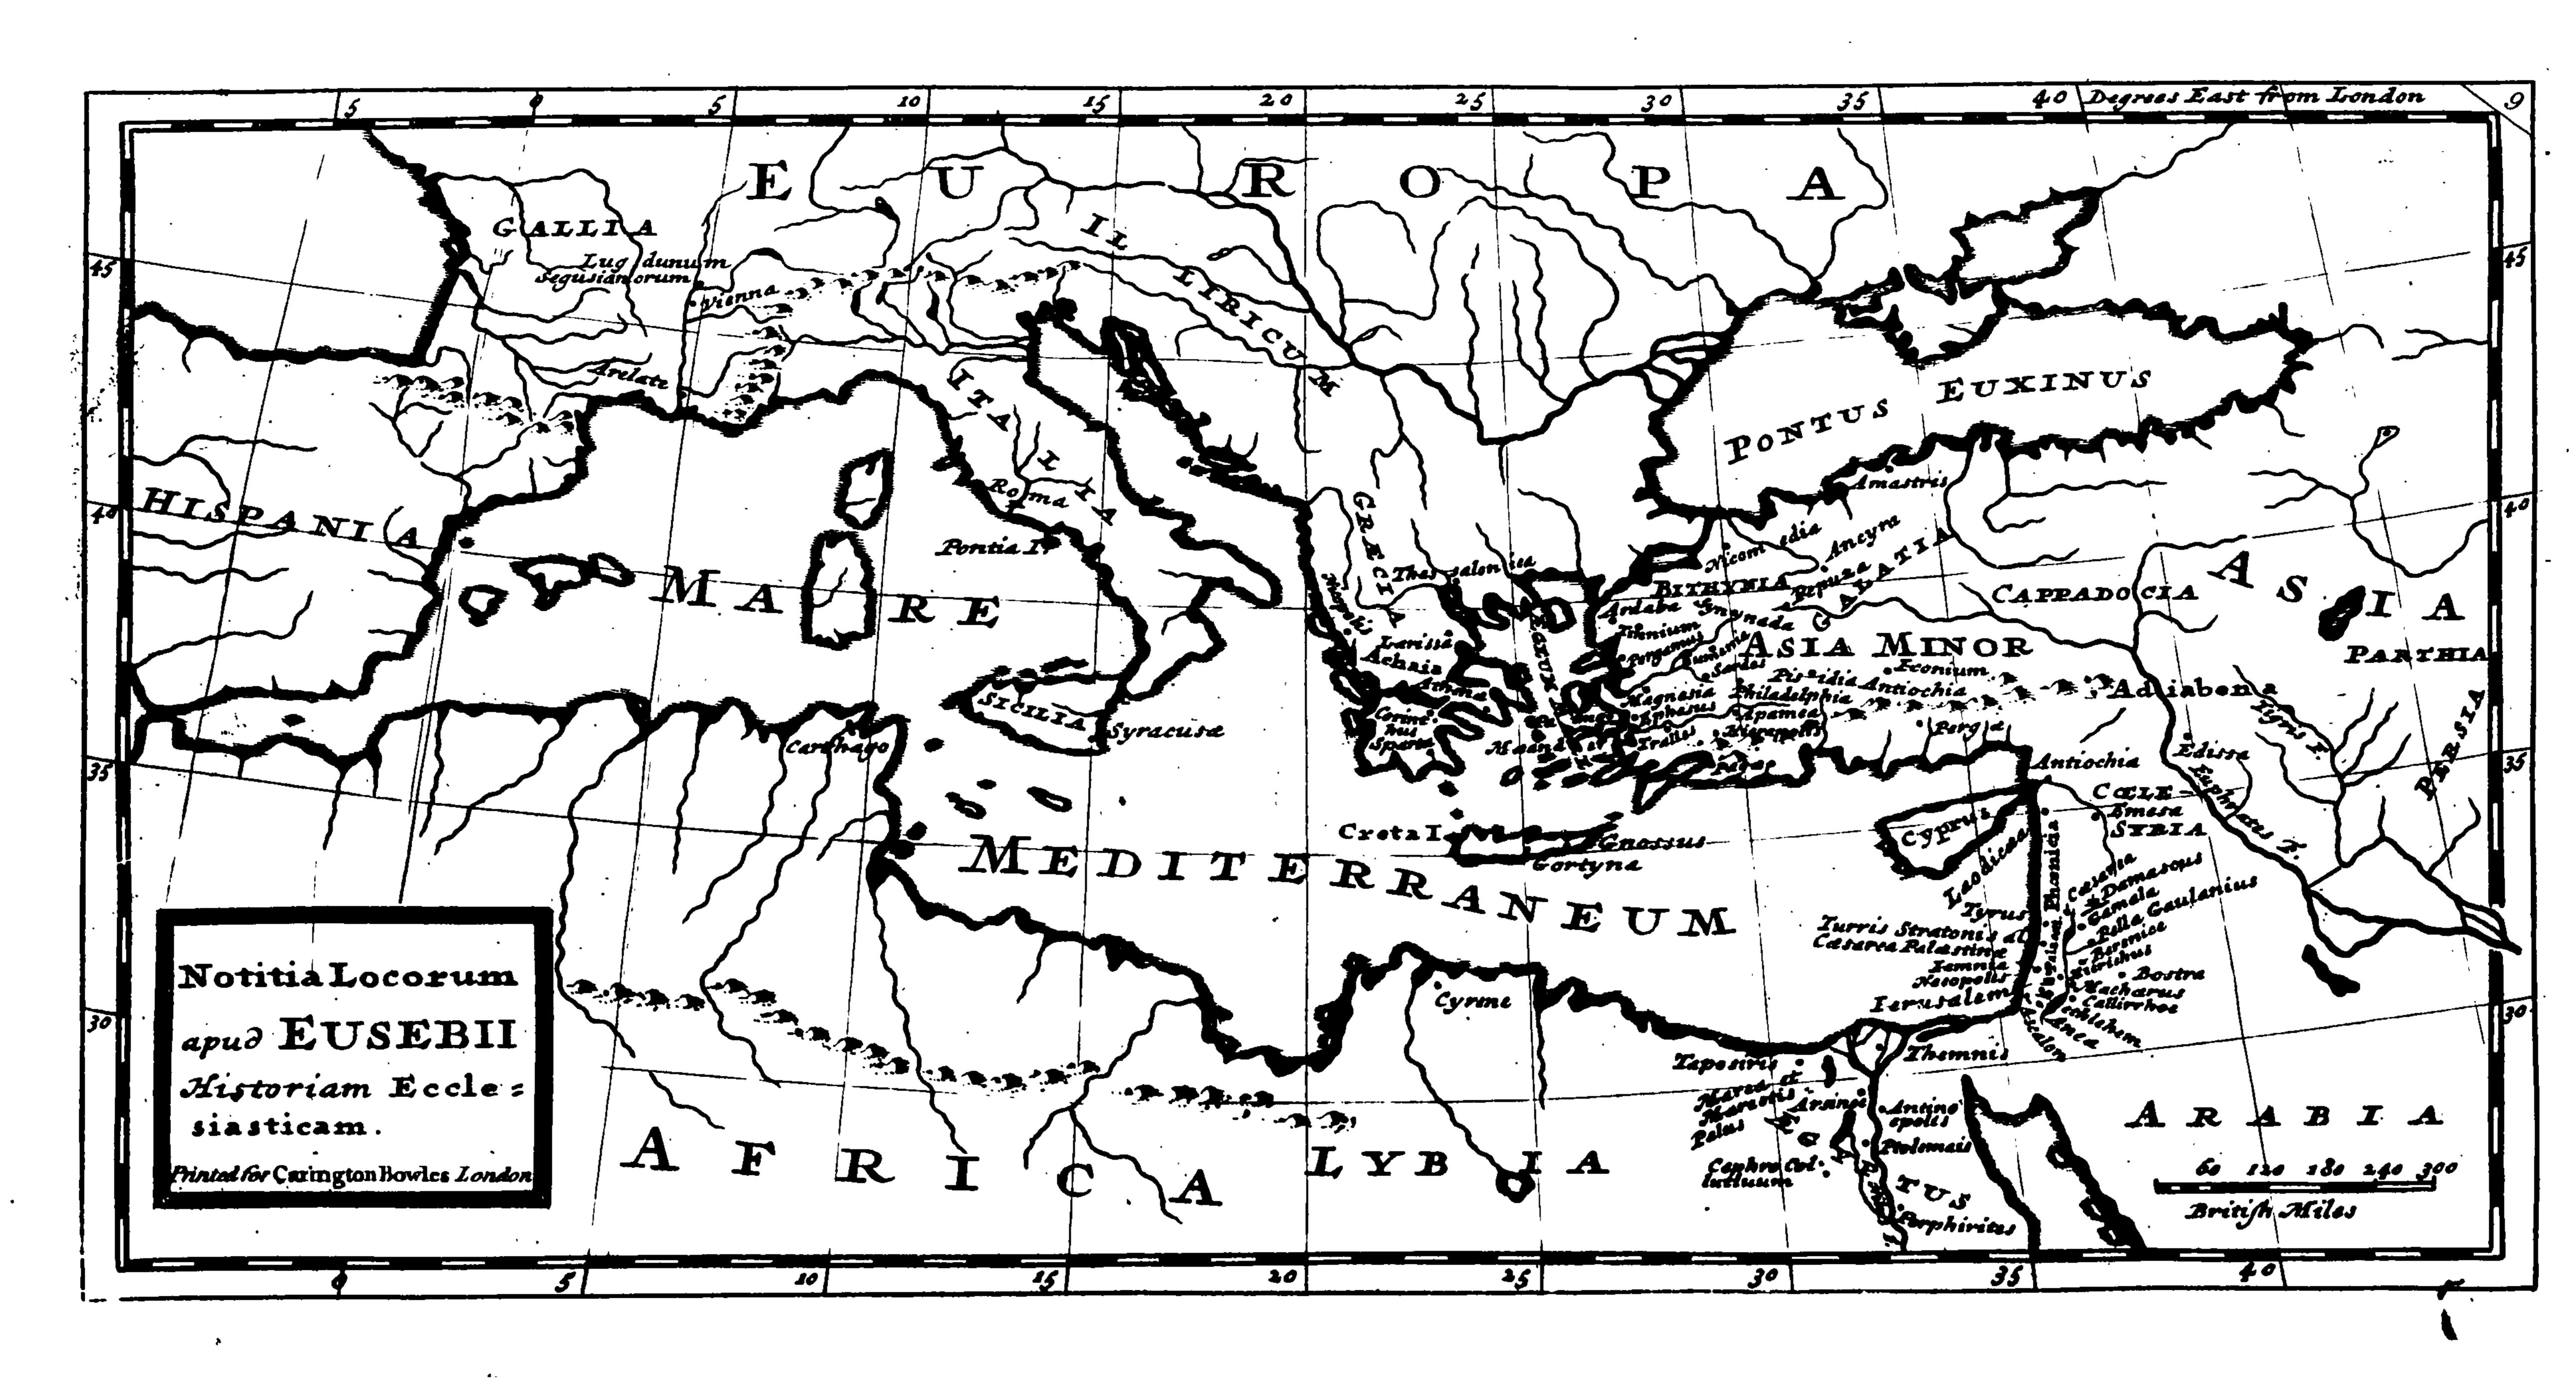

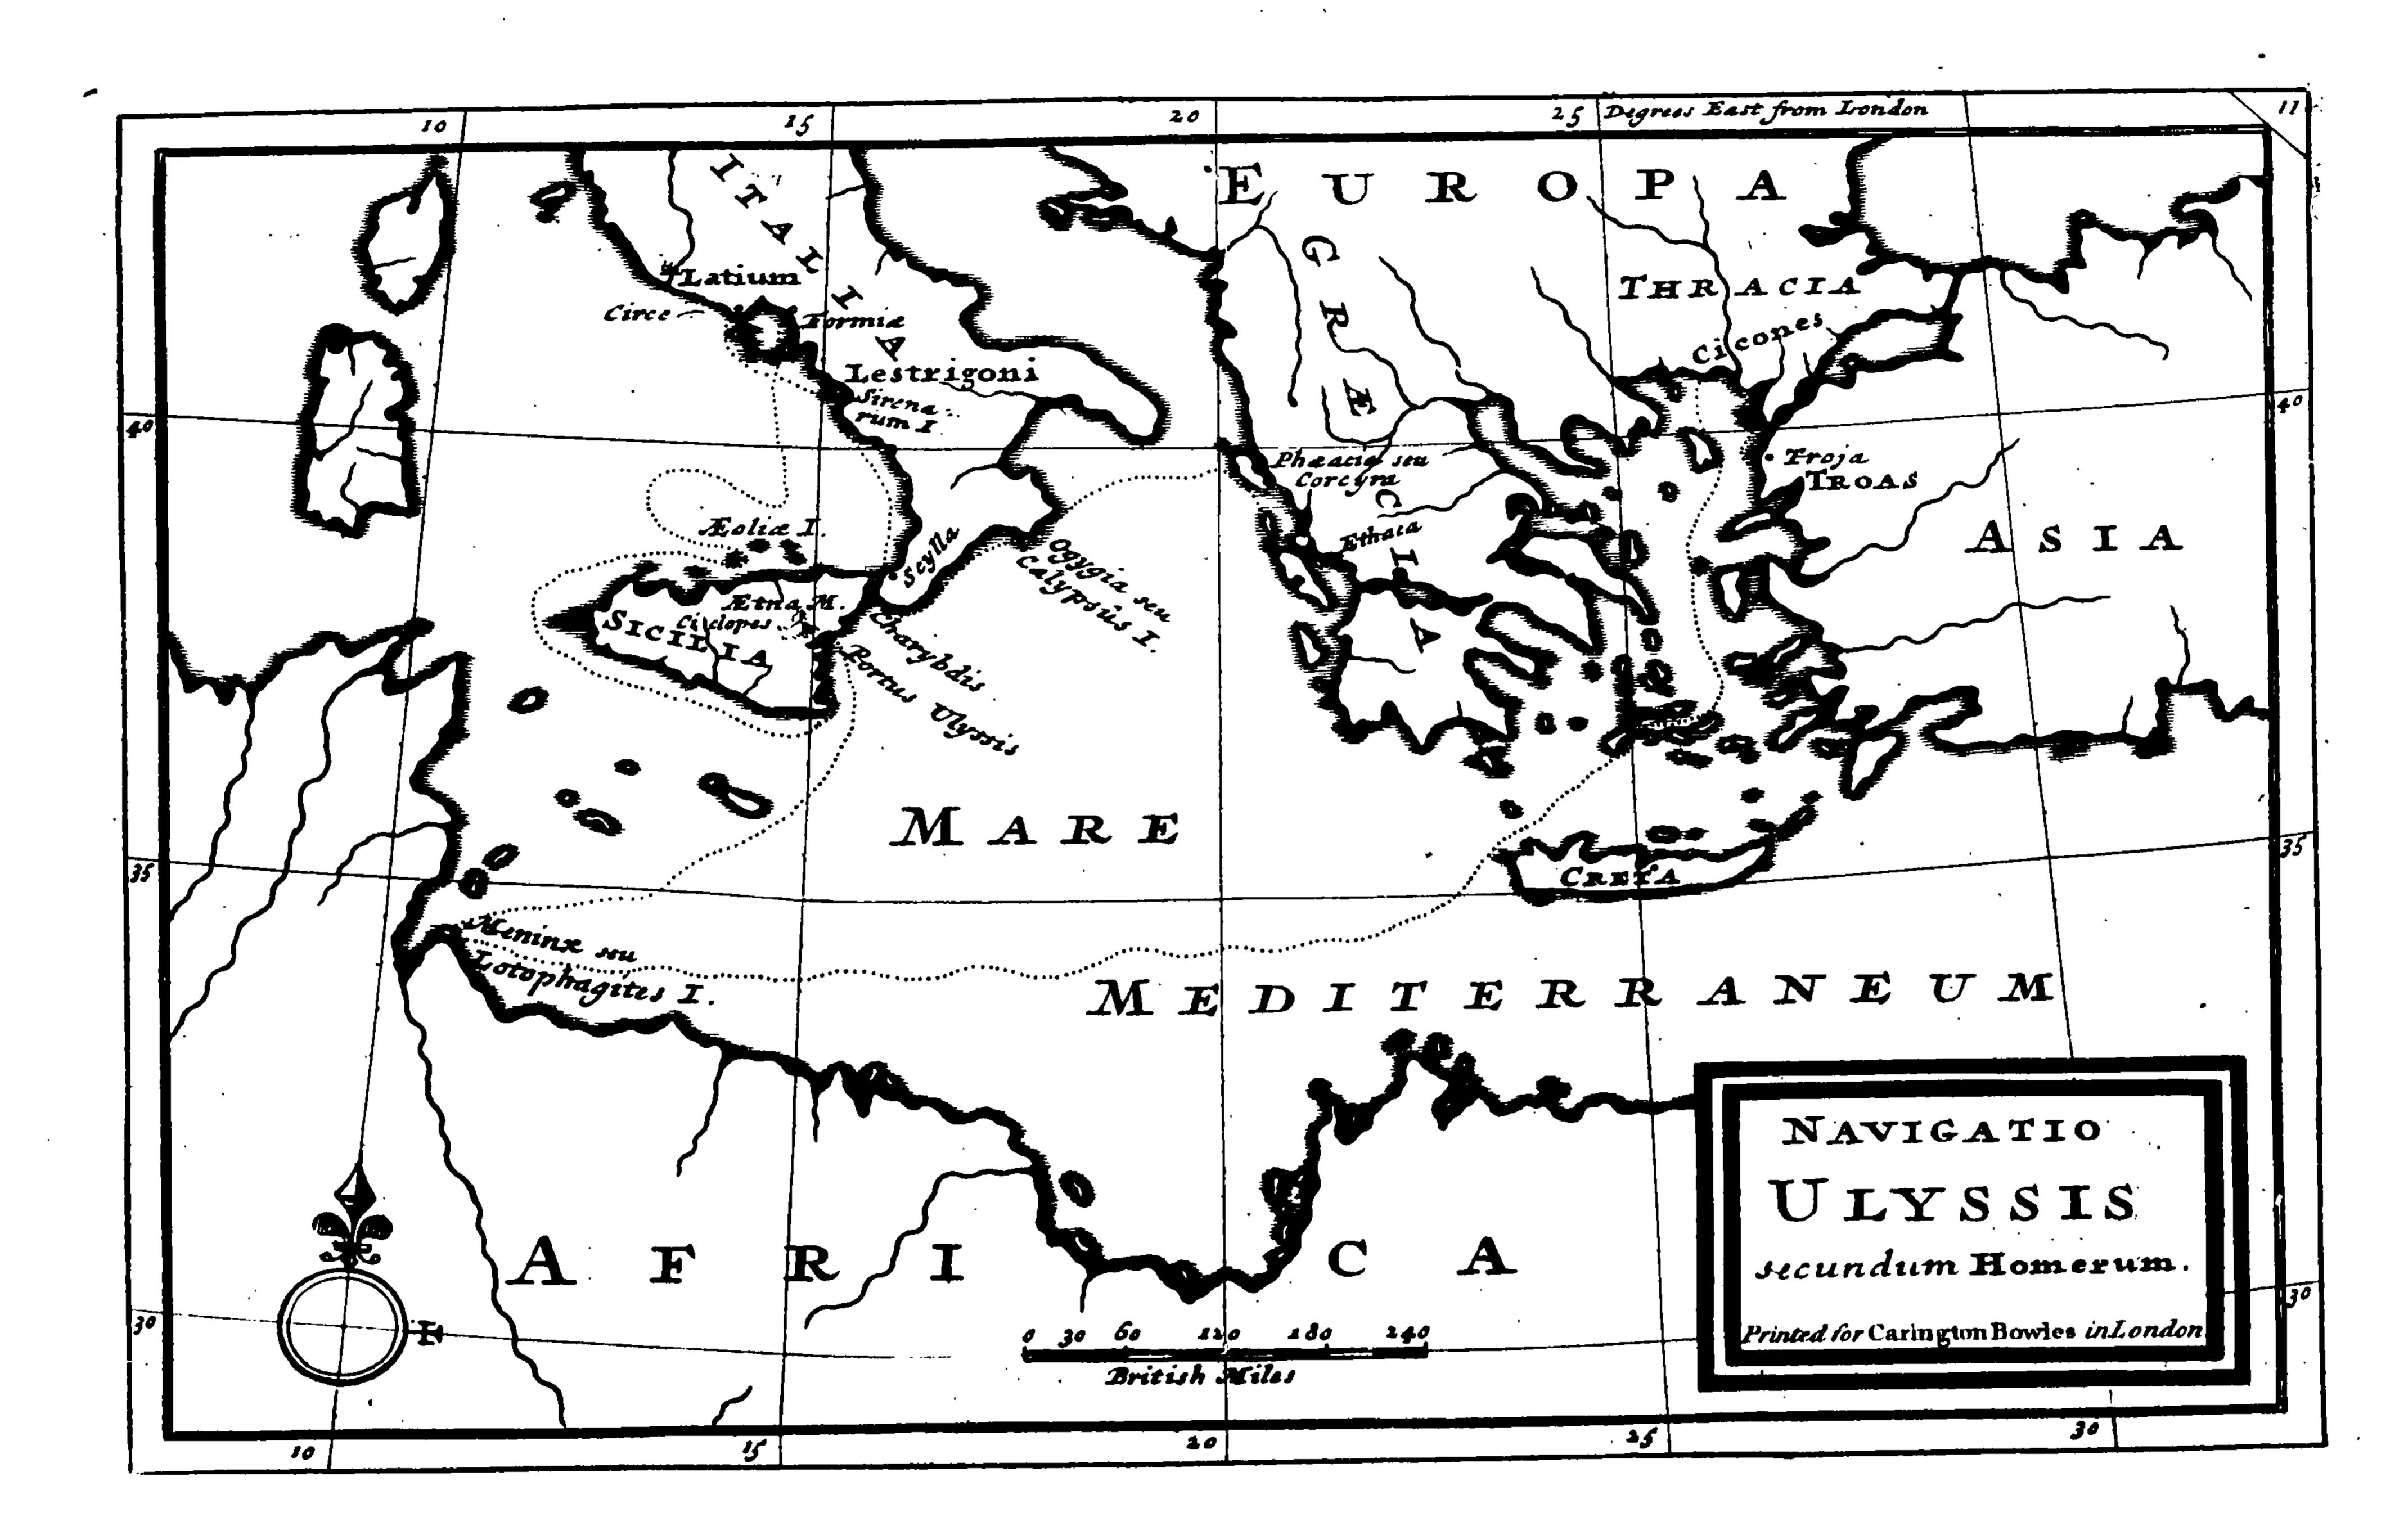

Policy JA. A.

